Looking at News with Col. H. Clark

A cattle house at night. A bunch of cattle. Darkness was an obstacle to a proper inspection, but he took the farmer in his car out to the field, turned the headlights on each animal in turn and concluded the bargain. The beauty of this is that it did not happen in Canada or the United States. It happened in the old country where people are slow and behind the times.

Having failed to nationalize or internationalize the manufacture of armament at the start the League of Nations might as well have disbanded then. If it had succeeded, each member nation could have been held down to known commitments. Nothing of that sort can be done when private firms with international affiliations control the manufacture. If it could not be done then it cannot be done now, with Germany and Japan out of the League.

As a preventive of war the moral conscience of the world is not a success. It would not allow the British navy to nip in the bud the ex-Kaiser's navy which had no object but to menace Britain's control of the seas. At that time Britain could have done what Nelson did at Copenhagen but the whole world, including half of the then British Ministry, would have denounced it as a ruthless act of aggression. To-day, Hitler is training a new generation for another war against France, and France knows it but cannot afford to affront the moral conscience of the world by taking the steps necessary to nip this menace in the bud. She is doing the only thing she can do—building defensive walls along the frontier which will make her safe from assault, except from the air.

Clever women are always unhappy—Heinrich Mann. Girls never were just what they seemed. We thought them bright and gay and snappy.

Until just now we never dreamed Our lady friends were all unhappy.

It is not of much consequence whether Canadian currency is printed in both languages, but the aggressiveness of those who insist upon it is likely to antagonize those who do not care.

Golfers Visit Staveland

On Sunday thirteen members of the Vulcan golf club journeyed to Staveland on an invitation of that club and played in a number of competitions, Staveland gaining the bulk of the wins. The first event of the day was the match play for the Staveland competition cup. In this event the Vulcanites were successful in winning only two matches, however all the games were close. Following this two-ball mixed foursomes were played as well as syn dicate play and individual games. During the afternoon the lady members of the Staveland club served a luncheon. The local players report a splendid entertaining day, and expressed appreciation for the manner in which the hosts entertained. Vulcan players attending were: Roy Green, Wm. Wright, Hugh Lee, Gordon Ruten, Frank Ruten, Ray Flynn, Bud Flood, H. J. Maber, J. Lebeau, T. B. Lebeau and Earl Robson.

Large Attendance Annual Community Memorial Service

Theatre Packed for Programme; Impressive Ceremonies at Cemetery

Decked in mourning regalia, the officers and members of the Samaritan Lodge No. 91, I.O.O.F. and Clover Leaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 37 paraded to the Vulcan theatre on Sunday, led by the Vulcan Citizens' Band, and at the theatre the annual memorial services for the community were conducted under the sponsorship of these two lodges. The parade was made at two o'clock and the services commenced at 2.30. A large crowd packed the hall and were greatly impressed by the services, not only in the theatre but at the cemetery.

The service opened with silent meditation. A solo, "Some Day May Be Too Late," by Mrs. D. A. Allred, opened the program, and was followed by massed singing of "Abide With Me," led by the band. E. G. Hansell of Calgary, who was occupying the pulpit at the Church of Christ, led the audience in prayer.

Miss Rose Hartwig sang "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings." Rev. Fr. Cunningham spoke very appropriately in a short address. Miss Beulah Walker and Miss Mayme Lebeau rendered a duet following which Rev. P. G. McPherson of the United Church gave a short address. A quartette by the Misses Hartwig and Warren and Messrs. Weale and Walker was then given.

The service concluded with massed singing led by the band and Benediction was pronounced by E. G. Hansell.

Following the programme the members of both the lodges accompanied by a large portion of the congregation motored to the Vulcan cemetery where the ritual service for decoration was given by the officers and chaplains of the lodges.

C.W.L. Lawn Social Successful Event

Rev. Fr. Cunningham and the ladies of St. Andrew's church are delighted with the financial and social success of their lawn social held on the church lawn, Saturday, June 23rd. The grounds were decorated most attractively.

Mrs. Henry J. Spanke, president of the League, was general convenor and the various booths were in charge of the following: tea tables, Mrs. J. J. Shaw; novelty booth, Mrs. E. J. Fortier; home cooking, Mrs. A. D. Mitchell; ice cream and strawberries, Miss Alma Shaw; fish pond, the junior girls; games, Earl and Leslie Shaw. The supply of fancy and plain goods was over abundant and before the crowd dispersed the surplus was disposed of very rapidly by auction under the capable direction of Mr. E. J. Fortier.

Many sincere thanks to all those who so kindly lent their patronage and helped to make the affair the success it was.

The lucky ticket holders were: Mrs. Louis Fath, Champion, with ticket No. 1724; Miss Ethel Diemert, Champion, with ticket No. 461; Mr. Wilfred Cain, 232 22nd Ave., W., Calgary, with ticket No. 950. The special attendance prize was won by Mrs. J. J. Shaw of Vulcan.

HOME TALENT CONCERT

A home talent concert is being sponsored at the Church of Christ this Friday at 8.30 o'clock. A special program has been arranged including the McPherson Sister trio; piano duet by Misses Walker and McPherson; vocal duet by Mr. W. Walker and Miss Hartwig; solo numbers by Miss J. Warden and Mr. Walker; and selection by a quartette. Other musical selections will be included on the program as well as reading and skits. The feature of the evening is a one-act play entitled "The Complicated Courtship." The cast includes the following players: Misses M. Morley, Beulah Walker, E. Warden and H. Harback, W. Walker and J. Koeller. No admission fee is being charged, but a silver collection will be taken.

RATEPAYERS WANT GRADE XII TO BE CONTINUED

Ratepayers of Vulcan School District No. 1902 in a plebiscite taken on Thursday last at the municipal office, decided in favor of continuing Grade XII in the High School. Only seventy-six ratepayers voted. Ten of these voted against continuing the grade and sixty-six voted for. The vote was taken to guide the School Board in their decision for the accommodation for the next term.

Vulcan Again Defeats Nanton at Lacrosse

Lacrosse players from Nanton played a return exhibition game with the Vulcan team at the arena on Wednesday evening last. As with the first game, Vulcan was victorious, defeating the Nantonites 5 to 3. The Vulcan goals were scored by Peacock, Ruten, Robson, Ferguson and Murray. Only a small crowd attended the game and the financial results were somewhat disappointing to the club. At the next game it is expected that the club will make no admission charge, but will take up a silver collection during the game. It is hoped that this will encourage the fans to turn out and support the new sport. At Nanton the team has received splendid support and at the last game over three hundred turned out to cheer their home boys. Comparing this with the slim crowd of less than one hundred here on Wednesday night it would seem that Nanton is more enthusiastic over the game than Vulcan.

The locals are shaping up into a nice team, and, this being their first season, they are to be complimented on the splendid progress made. At the present time the game is somewhat rough and ragged, but this will disappear as the season advances. The league schedule will open at Nanton on Monday when the locals will again face the Nanton team in connection with a Dominion Day celebration.

The line-up for the locals on Wednesday was: goal, Monkman; defense, Peacock and LaRoche; rover, Morrison; forwards, Ruten, Robson, Simington; Ferguson, Marshall, Murray, McDonald, McIntyre, Granlin.

A wedding of much interest to the residents of Vulcan district was solemnized at the Jason Le Methodist Church, Salem, Oregon, on Wednesday, June 13th when Mildred Oille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gardiner was united in marriage to Mr. Otto A. Yunker, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner were former Vulcan residents of the town. Their daughter, Mildred, was the first baby born in the town. Several invitations to attend the wedding were received locally.

Vulcan will probably be a deserted town on the Dominion Day holiday, the citizens having a number of nearby celebrations to choose from. Champion, Blackie and Nanton all have celebrations and in the first and last named towns Vulcanites will have prominent parts in the sport features.

At the Elks' celebration at Champion the Vulcan baseball team is to play as is one of Vulcan's softball teams. A ladies' softball team is also expected to enter in the contest in our neighbor town. And too, the road race, a feature of the day, will attract a number of Vulcan entries. A beautiful trophy has been purchased by the Elks of Champion and Vulcan for this event. At Nanton the lacrosse team will mix it again with the team of that town in the opening fixture of the Foothills Lacrosse League. Vulcan also has an entry in the softball tournament.

A happy social event took place last Wednesday when Mrs. A. J. Clayton entertained the United Church choir. The party was transported out by Mr. Weale, J. Willard, N. S. Campbell and Rev. McPherson, arriving at the Clayton home at five o'clock. The supper table was spread on the lawn and made a delightful showing in the setting of hedges and shrubbery. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton welcomed the party and in a short while all were seated at the table laden with good things to eat. After supper baby Robert Alfred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Clayton (nee Margaret McCartney) was baptized, Rev. P. G. McPherson, officiating. The little fellow was dressed in the ship worn by his father at his baptism, and the coat in which his mother was baptised. Both paternal and maternal grandparents were present. The evening was spent playing games and friendly visiting about the place. Mr. Allan expressed the appreciation of all present to the generous host and hostess. Thus an enjoyable event was concluded.

Engage Teachers at Special Meeting Held Monday Evening; One More Teacher Next Term

Discussion of the erection of a two-roomed frame school building was held at a special meeting of the School Board on Monday evening. Nothing definite was done but arrangements were made for the estimates of costs. The planned building would seat about 45 pupils in each room. This discussion was brought about by the vote on Thursday last that showed that the ratepayers wanted the 12th Grade continued. This will necessitate two extra rooms next term to take care of the overcrowded accommodation. This term the Terry house was utilized for school purposes as an extra room.

Other business of the meeting included the engaging of the teaching staff for the next term. Moved by Chairman McPherson, that Miss Stevenson be notified that her services will not be required next term. Carried unanimously.

Mr. Doney's application for public school teacher was accepted at $900 per term on motion by Graham. This will increase the public school staff by one, to take care of the increased attendance.

Mr. P. J. Peterson of Retlaw was engaged as High School teacher provided that the salary of $1100.00 is acceptable to him. This was done on motion by Trustee Hoskyn.

The balance of the teaching staff was re-engaged for the next term at the last regular meeting.

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS

Although the West has been unable to say from its own experience, that "times are getting better," yet apparently those in a position to take a more general view are fully persuaded that Canada is making a quite remarkable recovery. This assurance comes from those most intimately associated with trade and finance, and from many different phases of industry. Until those who live in Western Canada actually enjoy some of this returning prosperity, they are inclined to be skeptical—probably too skeptical. But it is quite as harmful to be too pessimistic, as it is to be too optimistic—and much harder on health and spirits.

At any rate, it seems to be a definite fact that Canada as a whole is moving forward. During the past session, legislation has been passed with the object of bringing the West forward on the tide of better times, and in the course of a few months it is to be hoped that some beneficial results may be realized from the Farm Loan Act and the Marketing Act and the Public Works Relief. Locally, the prospect for crops and feed is entirely altered during the past month, and this providential turn for the better is reflected in almost all parts of the prairie West.

Viewed on a larger scale, there are many evidences of returning good times.

Prime Minister Bennett hopes from the increasing revenues, that the budget may be balanced by the end of the year. Revenues have increased since April 1, sixteen million dollars over the same period a year ago. Foreign trade has increased by almost 50 per cent. Income tax collections have risen and in the East, payrolls have substantially increased. The gain in railroad operating revenues is in itself heartening. The C.N.R. gross revenues are 20 per cent above the same period of last year and a gain of 17½ per cent. is registered by the C.P.R. Building permits indicate activity on the part of private enterprise and are not only more than last year, but are increasing each month.

Indisputable figures bear out the belief that prosperity in the near future (even for Western Canada) may come as a reward for the past four years of privation and endurance.

C. C. F. IN ONTARIO

Don Buchanan, son of Senator Buchanan of the Lethbridge Herald, has been viewing the political situation in Ontario, and writes an article to the Lethbridge Herald.

One of the surprises of the election campaign as it progresses in Ontario is the revival of the C.C.F. organization, which was supposed (in the minds of the opposing parties) to have become moribund after the conflicts between left wing labor and right wing which had resulted in the departure of the U.F.O. as affiliates and in reorganization of the provincial executive. While the U.F.O. is running some of its own candidates in the rural areas, the new C.C.F. council is putting about 40 candidates in the field elsewhere.

The direction of the campaign is now in hands of Graham Spry, former secretary of the Canadian Clubs and president of the Canadian Radio League.

There is informal co-operation with the U.F.O. seven independent candidates, and while there is little hope of victory in more than a handful of constituencies, the campaign on the other hand, is being energetically used by way of propaganda in preparation for the much stiffer battle that is to come during the Dominion election. A feature of the C.C.F. list of candidates is the large number of ministers of the gospel (mostly United Church pastors who have resigned their charges to enter politics in the cause of Socialism) and also the number, three to be exact, of Ph. D's who have been nominated.

The average age of these Socialist candidates is about 36, which is also approximately the age of the organizer, Graham Spry. Two of the young men nominated in rural districts are only 22 years old, and in the city of Kitchener they have a United Church missionary who, after spending most of his youth in China, this year came back to devote his energies to Socialist politics in Canada.

REP. BY POP

Representation by population, for which our forefathers struggled, does not work out to perfection. No more striking instance of this could be found than in the recent Saskatchewan elections. The Liberal party was elected overwhelmingly with 49 members. The Farmer-Labor party has the remaining five out of the total of fifty-four members, and the Conservatives have nary a soul to represent them. Yet the 379,367 voters of Saskatchewan expressed their choice as follows: Liberals 178,695; Conservatives 103,399; United Farmer 92,191; others 5,082. The Liberal percentage of total votes is 46.9 and the percentage of members 90.7. The substantial percentage that favored Conservative return, has not one representative to lift his voice. This seems very haywire, but can any other system be devised that will give fairer representation of the population. Proportional representation has never been accepted with any enthusiasm.

Saskatchewan happens to be a recent and striking instance of the strange working out of the system by which parties come in to power and dominate the policies of a province or a nation. In fact, Saskatchewan had such a strong Liberal majority of voters over any other group, that the right of a Liberal control is clearly indicated. There are instances that might be given in which the government has not represented the actual majority of voters in the country. And so far as provincial business is concerned, there is as a rule no striking cleavage between the policies of different parties.

The numbers of members in the recent elections in Saskatchewan and Ontario, though somewhat reduced, still seem unnecessarily great. Governments are very obstinate in the matter of drastic reduction of representatives, but the electorate would welcome a real scaling down.

The suggestion that the three prairie provinces operate under one government, with one representative from each of the federal ridings, commends itself to quite a proportion of the population, and it would seem that such a suggestion is sufficiently important to deserve a vote on the part of the electorate of the West.

RECIPE FOR RICHES

Irvin Cobb, writing in a recent Rotarian magazine, presents his recipe for getting rich. He says: "Our present troubles have come because we save the wrong thing. We save money, which flits away having no forwarding address. We should save almost anything but dollars. Save whatever is current except currency, and ensure affluence. That is, provided you can wait long enough."

"For instance, my great grandfather back in 1800, began trading Kentucky tobacco and whisky to foreign parts. One way and another, his correspondence covered Europe, Asia and South America. His son succeeded him and kept all that correspondence in the original envelopes until the early eighties when somebody made a bonfire of the whole pile."

"Just think what it would have meant to succeeding generations if my grandfather had hung on to those withered stamps and envelopes. They bore stamps of almost priceless issues. All I would have to do would be to pass out a few old stamps and get a Rolls Royce or shop round for a yacht."

"Save anything commonplace and almost worthless, just so long as it marks an epoch in this transitory and dizzy world, and bye and bye, it will become tomorrow's heirloom and bring a King's ransom—if you can wait long enough."

"I look back on my past life and wish I had saved those old fashioned cigarette pictures, mustache cups or back numbers of dime novels, or spirm oil lamps. I wish I had saved brass cuspidors, and base-burner stoves, or illustrated calendars and almanacs. I wish I had saved cigar store Indians and buggy whips."

"So my recipe is: Save something which is of small consequence in the present scheme of things, put it away and forget it. Even though you may not live long enough to translate it into fat dividends, eventually will thy children's children rise up and call thee blessed for saving something worthwhile."

"As pure as . . . BEER!"

Many people may be surprised at this unexpected comparison: "As pure as . . . BEER." Yet it is a simple fact that there is no article of food or drink produced with greater care and in greater purity, than the beer of today.

INSECT PARASITES DESTROY PESTS

Ground Beetle, Beetle Larva, Blister Beetles Are Destructive to Grasshoppers

The larvae of a ground beetle has recently come into prominence as a destroyer of grasshopper eggs. The larvae of the beetle is another insect friend that destroys insect enormous numbers of grasshopper eggs. Similarly, various species of blister beetles which are so destructive in their mature stage, produce young that are amongst our most important aids in our struggle against grasshoppers. Then, too, there are the insect parasites. Most of these, though not all, are related to the wasps. Some species lay their eggs in cutworms and other caterpillars, the resulting larvae feeding inside the caterpillar until mature, at which time the caterpillar dies. The parasite then pupates either inside or outside the dead caterpillar and later emerges as a fully developed insect capable of laying eggs in still other insect pests.

Another insect of importance is one of the ground beetles, called the fiery hunter. This is a large black beetle with rows of coppery spots down its back. It feeds on a considerable number of other insects.

would cause world chaos. There are millions of people in the republic who see the point and always did, but there are others who will now realize that the debts have to be revised.

War is not an investment. It is destruction and nothing else. Even the winners are losers; they may win the "cause" but they pay the shot. Prussia made its wars against Denmark, and Austria and France pay, only to lose all, or nearly all, in the late war. It's successes then bred the ambitious policy that collapsed in 1918. War does not pay even where the victor wins territory, reparations and indemnities. Any nation financing belligerent nations in the future will not expect to be repaid. Default may not prevent wars, but it will make them of shorter duration because the warring nations will have to finance their foreign purchases with spot cash.

It will be hard to raise clamor about titles so long as the selection of persons thus honored by the King is as free from criticism as the last list is. So long as the recommendations do not include men whose only title to titles is the possession of wealth so long will there be no great opposition to titles except in the abstract.

With public approval we think we can promise a baronetcy to the Canadian who discovers a cure for cancer, and knighthood to the Canadian who identifies, segregates and slaughters the germ of the common cold. We also promise with public approval some titles of honor and distinction to the men who can provide moisture where needed and kill grasshoppers by the billion.

We have said already and now repeat that we would give special consideration to the case of men who have wealth alone to offer in return. A special list could be created for them, with titles awarded according to the amounts they are willing to pay toward the reduction of our national debt. For a hundred million we would make him a Knight of the Golden Fleece; for seventy-five million, a Chevalier of the First Water, and so on down the scale. When everybody knows the reasons for which such titles are bestowed, no objections can be raised. Men will say "So-and-So is now Sir So-and-So. He relieved our financial burden to the tune of —" quoting the amount as it appears in the annual report of the Treasury. This is at least preferable to the granting of titles in return for cash contributions to the party in power, which was at one time the practice in England.

Cheap labor has flourished in the province of Quebec according to investigation in the Stevens probe. Clothing contractors of Montreal would distribute material in the country, and whole families would work on the job to earn 50 cts. a day. The price paid was 60 cts. a dozen for sewing men's pants and in addition the sewers bought the thread which was furnished free to the contractor.

COSTS OF WHEAT RAISING 63 CTS

The cost of producing wheat after summerfallow on 31 illustration stations in the three prairie provinces has averaged $14.53 per acre, or, considering the average yield of 23.2 bushels per acre, at a cost of 63 cents per bushel. Wheat grown as second crop after summerfallow in Alberta and Saskatchewan has cost $12.39 per acre, or, considering the average yield of 16.2 bushels per acre, at a cost of 76 cents per bushel.

These costs are somewhat less than on Dominion Experimental farms or private farms. The chief reasons for lower costs on the illustration stations lies in the lower valuation being placed on the land, most of the stations being located in regions where values are lower. Thus, while the illustration station land has been valued at $24 per acre, the land of the experimental farms has been valued at $42.68 per acre, and that of private farms at $44.66 per acre. Differences in seed and threshing costs account for the remaining slight variations.

$8000 DAMAGES AGAINST ROYALITE

Turner Valley Farmer Wins Claim for Trespassing Against Oil Company

F. D. Wurstenberger of Turner Valley was awarded $8,000 damages against the Royalite Oil Company by Mr. Justice Ford in supreme court Friday morning. He originally sought $50,000, claiming that drilling operations of the company under crown lease on his land, situated in the townsite of Turner Valley, has made certain lots of the subdivided property unsaleable.

The defendant was definitely a trespasser, His Lordship declared, though not in the ordinary sense. There had been tacit consent for entry upon the land. There could be no punitive damages, however. In fixing damages he declared that the plaintiff in his claim, had somewhat extravagant notions as to the extent of damage done to his property and to what he might expect to receive from its sale as subdivided.

W. J. Saunders, son Bobby, and Mr. Amandon also spent Sunday trying to lure the big fellows, but report so much food coming down with high water that said trout were not even mildly interested.

Church services are being held twice each Sunday now in the Kirkcaldy school house, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Miss Kathleen Colwell, a graduate of the Three Hills Bible School is in charge. All members of the community and children, are cordially invited to attend these services.

Interior Department
 To provide for the construction and development of public buildings, camp sites, electric light and telephone systems, highways, trails, water and sewer systems, recreational areas, wharves and river protection works; to provide for the development of historic sites, including buildings, repairs and restorations; also to provide for the construction of the Golden-Revelstoke (Big Bend) section of the trans-Canada highway, between Golden and Canoe River, further to provide for the purchase and acquisition of building sites, $2,000,000.

Tax arrears in the town of Okotoks amounts today to the sum of $16,140.47 and an endeavor will be made to hold a tax sale in September.

Contracts for 300 miles of road gravelling have been let by the Public Works Dept. and tenders are being called for an additional 150 miles.

Had the parents of those Ontario quintuplets lived in Italy, Mussolini would probably have set them up for life. Had they been in Germany and Germans, Hitler would have given them a government job with a big salary. Being in Canada they will just have to struggle along. Although Mr. Bennett might give them a title of some kind.—Saskatoon Star-Phoenix.

APPLICATIONS TO KILL STINKWEED

(From Experimental Farms' Note)

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, sulphuric acid in concentrations ranging from 2 to 6 per cent by weight, were sprayed on growing wheat crops and on summerfallow badly infested with a stinkweed (Thlaspi Arvense). The rate of 100 gallons per acre was used for all concentrations.

Spray was applied the early part of June on wheat that was 10 to 12 inches high, while the stinkweed was in the rosette stage. All concentrations were effective in killing the stinkweed. The 2 per cent. concentrations showed a remarkable kill of practically 100 per cent, with practically no damage to wheat plants, while the more concentrated solutions burned the leaves of wheat plants. The 5 per cent solution checked the wheat growth and maturity was retarded. There were no significant differences in the yields from the check and treated areas.

The stinkweed was well advanced on the summerfallow, the plants being out in bloom, so that even the 6 per cent solution was not 100 per cent. effective. The degree of infestation ranged from 75 to 125 plants per square foot.

It would appear that stronger concentrations are necessary to effectively control stinkweed in the more advanced stages, while the less concentrated solutions are effective in the early stage growth.

W. J. Breakey, Dominion Experimental Station, Morden, Man.
